

vDeploy: Python Framework for deploying groups of VMs from existing image templates. The deployment is described by description and definition files written in JSON. Definitions are designed so that they can be deployed on any Hypervisor that images are available for. Or you can deploy to OpenStack or S3.

